Tiffin Factory Delivery Program

The new Tiffin Factory Delivery Program is a special delivery option performed by Tiffin Motorhomes personnel for ordered Zephyrs and Bob Tiffin Limited Edition Allegro Buses. This exclusive and dedicated team will prepare coaches for special delivery and will provide you with what we hope will be the best coach delivery experience ever.

Here is what to expect:

- The factory delivery will take 2-3 full days.
- We will walk you through every operating system and compartment in your motorhome at your own pace.
- In addition to a very hands-on approach to your delivery experience, you will leave Red Bay for your first trip with a full tank of fuel and water in your tanks. (During the winter, you may choose to have your coach winterized instead of having your tanks filled with water.)

Our goal is that before you leave the factory, you will understand how your coach operates from top to bottom, and know the 'why' behind every feature and function.

Tuscumbia was the site of the first railway west of the Appalachian Mountains, chartered in 1830. It first ran a distance of two miles from town to Tuscumbia Landing on the Tennessee River. This railway was soon extended to Decatur, AL, providing a means of shipping goods around the Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River. (BMM)

Red Bay was incorporated in 1907. Red Bay is named for the red clay and bay trees. The bay tree looks like a wild magnolia, only with smaller blooms, and usually grows in low lying areas such as around creeks. (RBM)

Belle Mont Mansion, constructed by skilled enslaved craftsmen for Dr. Alexander W. Mitchell, circa 1828, is a distinguished Federal-period home. The architecture shows a marked influence of Thomas Jefferson. The historic home is furnished with period antiques and oil portraiture and is open to the public. For more information: 256-381-5052.

Smith Lumber Company, which later became Keeton Lumber Company, provided jobs for many of the men in the Red Bay area. The steam whistle there would blow in the morning, at lunch and in the afternoon when the work day ended and could be heard for miles around. (RBM)

The Muscle Shoals (Mussel Shoals), was a 40-mile stretch of the Tennessee River where the water fell over 100 feet, creating a treacherous series of rapids, which for most of the year made navigation impossible. This was the reason that the first railway in Alabama was created at Tuscumbia to provide a means of bypassing the Muscle Shoals. The Tuscumbia Depot Museum marks the site of this railway. A pioneer log cabin (circa 1815-1830) still standing in Tuscumbia, reputedly served as a stagecoach stop during the town's early days. It may have also housed travelers on Jackson's Military Road, an important roadway which was proposed by Andrew Jackson following the War of 1812, constructed 1817-1819 and running in front of the cabin (Dickson Street today). Celtic Festival 2nd Weekend in May | Celtic Fest/Celtic Trivia

There have been people of Celtic heritage in North Alabama since the 1600s. Originally, many people of Celtic origin traded with local Native American tribes including the Cherokee and the Chickasaw.

Many Celtic languages are still around today. These include Welsh, Irish, Scottish Gaelic, and more. There are also "dead" Celtic languages including Noric, Manx, Gallaecian, among others.

In order to keep their information safe, ancient Celts passed down laws, stories, and history orally. This helped to preserve their languages and created a cultural unity among all Celts.

The Celts were known for their colorful woolen textiles, this includes the famous Scottish tartans that are still seen today.

When Native Americans were being assembled for the Indian Removal of the 1830's, they were encamped at Big Spring (today's Spring Park). Many were ill and in need of food and clothing. The good people of the town came down the hill bringing blankets, food and clothing. A Creek chief, Chilly McIntosh was quoted in a newspaper account, saying, "As long as our people remain on the earth we will recollect Tuscumbia." This is the only documented account of kind treatment of Native Americans while they were on the tragic "Trail of Tears" that took them to reservations in the West. (BMM)

Tuscumbia was originally known by the name given to it by the American Indians, "Oka Kapassa", translated as "Cold Water". The name was changed to "Big Spring" and finally to Tuscumbia, in honor of the Chickasaw Chief Tashka - Ambi ("Tuscumbia"). (BMM)

When the first settlers arrived at the source of Big Spring around 1815, they were welcomed by Chickasaw Chief Tuscumbia ("Tashka-Ambi"), whose people already inhabited the area. When later choosing a name for their new town, the early townspeople honored this esteemed Native American by naming the town for him. (BMM)

Prehistoric Native Americans once lived along the Tennessee River and its tributaries, including the spring in what is now Tuscumbia, leaving artifacts that date back as much as 10,000 years. (BMM)
