THIS KOA'S HISTORY

The campground was originally built in 1968. This section of the Manistee National Forest would forever become a place where "Memories Are Made". The true history to these grounds starts long before a tent was ever pitched. When the soil beneath your feet was refuge to a family in need of peace from the long trying journey of traveling the underground railroad. Not far from here you can see where they put up a cabin and built themselves a small homestead. A little further you can find a small graveyard where some of the headstones date back to 1800s. They saw the natural beauty and the massive forest as a perfect place to put down some roots. We Hope that you can find the same peace and beauty during your stay here.
